2. OBJECTIVE

I teach to build self-confidence and self-reliance. I teach rescue skills so that others can learn to be safe and then save others. I am specifically interested in prevention. By learning to be safe and recognizing how accidents occur, rescuers and members of the public can be more safe in their endeavors.

I like to broaden my own rescue skills by taking more rescue courses and expanding the list of courses that I teach. This way I keep things new, fresh and dynamic. I love people and am passionate about rescue. I learn something new every time I teach.
